Sometimes you don't get what you pay for.
Old and tired inside, and no hot water. We booked an all inclusive family 'kids everything free' when we went down to 'the dungeon' with no windows breakfast, the little shot of a woman said my son had to pay. She said 'how old is he?' I said '3' and she said 3 and above have to pay. If I had of said 2, '2 and above have to pay!' You get the drift. The choice at buffet was appalling, almost zero, and the eggs stsdjon, the sour old puss only wanted to serve fried eggs she had done, had no desire to make an omelette. We basically settled on strawberry jam toast in a toaster that burns, and horrible coffee. The young lady behind reception was the only plus, s…
